THE JEWELRY DROPS

SPECIAL INSERT OF
MILANO JEWELRY WEEK

Progetto Editoriale Internazionale dedicato a tutti i brand e gli artisti che non possono essere presenti a Milano durante la Week di ottobre 2024, ma anche per coloro che espongono i propri gioielli nella manifestazione. Uno strumento innovativo e efficace che sfrutta la visibilità della MJW senza la necessità di essere presenti e per questo ottenere ottimi riscontri diminuendo l'investimento promozionale del partecipante.

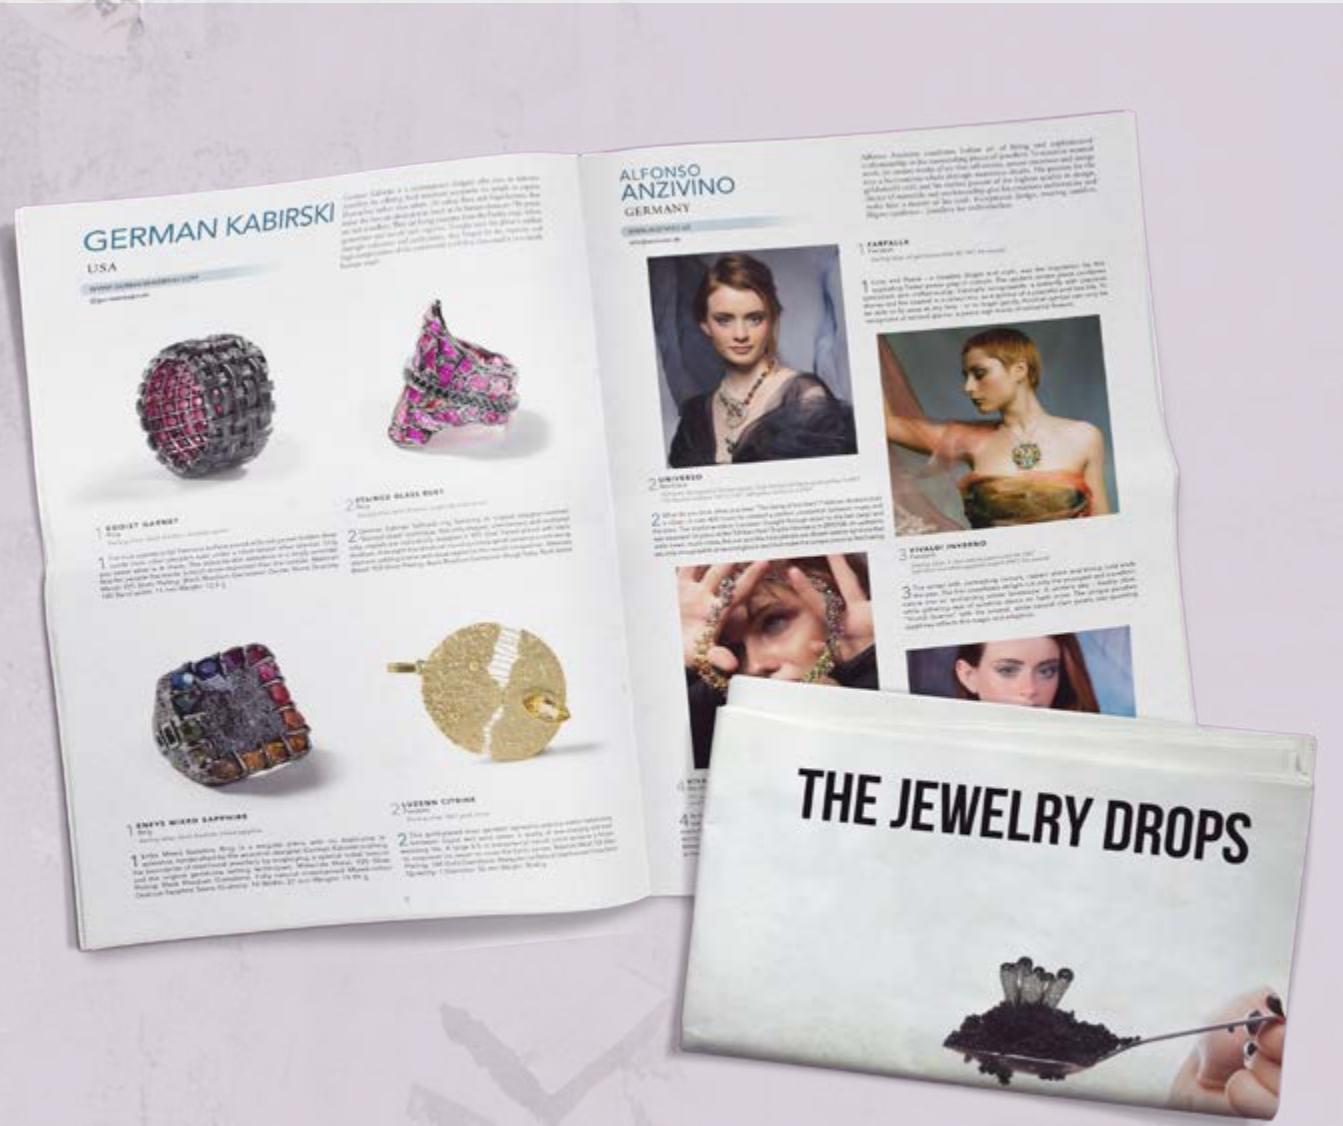

Una raccolta di eccellenze, che celebra uno spaccato di quello che il mondo del gioiello offre in tutte le sue sfaccettature.

Ogni Partecipante in seguito al superamento della selezione può decidere di aderire con due, quattro o otto gioielli.

Questo esclusivo magazine attraverso le immagini e il racconto dei protagonisti vuole scoprire le origini, le innovazioni e gli artisti che realizzano creazioni preziose e contemporanee.

Federica Rossi was born in Arzno, daughter of textile entrepreneurs working in the field of high fashion. After graduating in law, she decided to work in the company of her parents, who were her teachers. Since she was a girl she developed the desire to make jewels to offer dreams. This began to materialize when she met some international renowned fashion designers, who appreciated her talent and encouraged her to follow out of passion; this is how her journey began. This stimulating experience proved fundamental for the creation of her brand Federica Rossi Jewels.

1 PINLOVE HYPNOSE
Pendant

White gold, white round diamonds

2 MORPHOSIS
Ring

White gold, princess cut diamonds, white round diamonds

3 HAREM OF ANDALUCIA
Necklace

White gold, white round diamonds

Christian Nasr career in architecture witnessed a phenomenal change of scale and pace when he turned his creativity into design. His architectural background has always been off is a more intimate medium than landmarks. Luxury Art in jewellery, and other mediums such as sculptors, Crismann pieces are a combination of art and craftsmanship, and interpretation beyond decoration. Sublime pieces of art that transcend time and overflow with subtle and rich meanings making the psyche and evoking strong emotions.

3 The horseshoe arch, the emblematic arch of Moorish architecture in Andalucia, the Harem Room interior decoration; this unique piece reinvents the arch design with an additional touch of femininity. Ornamentation is further explored in the form of a turban, a traditional Indian headgear, which is a symbol of purity, condemned and dispersed gradually to the less visual part, same as the concept of ornamentation in Alhambra, covering everything: walls, arches, railings and vaults.

4 MAHARANI
Turban

White gold, white round diamonds, emerald

4 The "Maharani" Inspired by the maharaja's and maharani's jewellery that was once synonymous with opulence, wealth and luxury of India. Characterized by the symmetry of multi layers of rings opening like leaves to hold an exquisite emerald on top similar to the turban ornamented with jewels on the forehead of the Maharaja. This piece is a reminder of the opulence and luxury of the Indian mughals. It's also a symbol of power and status.

JUTTA BEHR-SCHAEIDT

FRANCE

WWW.JUTTA-BEHR.COM
contact@jutta-behr.com

Jutta Behr-Schaeidt is a contemporary jeweller with a unique vision of the world, combining femininity, lightness and strength in her wearable sculptures. Her jewellery is handcrafted from high-quality materials. They are designed as messages full of light and depth. After graduating as a master jeweller in Munich in 2000, she moved to France, where she now lives and works. She creates her pieces with a passion for precious materials, nature, cultures and life. A dialogue is created between the process and the material, between the piece of jewellery or sculpture and its wearer.

1 DOUBLE-COCOON

900/1000 gold, 935/1000 silver
patinated and fire-blackened

2 NATURAL DROP

935/1000 silver, 999/1000 gold
900/1000 gold, ammandine 1.3ct

1 This set of cocoons is created by the process of creation itself. Each piece grows like a real cocoon in nature. In human life, a cocoon often symbolizes a safe environment that allows growth, change and protection from external threats. This ring is a combination of two cocoons, silver and gold. It shows also the contrast of soft and hard. The fire-blackened part tells us about the forces that can move here. Height 4 cm.

3 This design stands for abundance and transformation, and is a uplifting reminder that with the right attitude, anything is possible. A main feature of this necklace is the flower made out of pure gold. This jewel body opens to the sky, symbolizes divine receiving and fertility. The silver chief material stands for purity. The silver has been patinated and fire-blackened to show the power and forces of transformation. Created to celebrate the greatness of all. Length: Middle: 40 cm.

3 COCOON CORNUCOPIA

935/1000 silver partially fireblackened
999/1000 gold

4 Ring of Skills is a powerful item. This dynamic look seems to show its viewer and wearer the ability to master any skill they desire. Its drops of stock-coral are said to represent energy and the ability to make informed decisions. Like fertile drops of blood. Its design is confusing and dynamic, in equal measure and the stock-coral-drops are in flow with it. This Skills-Ring is a statement and empowered with knowledge and courage.

5 PHOENIX

Ring
935/1000 silver, 999/1000 gold

5 The Ring of the Phoenix is a unique and symbolic piece of jewellery made of silver and gold. It is a ring with a rock. One side is silver, the other side is gold. The rock is an egg made of pure gold. It symbolises hope, rebirth and renewal and is a reminder of the endurance and eternal spirit of the phoenix. The ring represents strength and courage. Height of the Phoenix element 8 cm.

6 THE LANGUAGE OF THE GALLOPING HORSE

935/1000 silver, 999/1000 gold
900/1000 gold, boulder-opal

6 An inscription of pure gold - a spontaneous engraving. This writing tells of a wild animal, perhaps a horse or a bull, galloping into new territories, without haste, but with joy and energy. The result of this imaginary journey is found in the other side of the ring, which is set with a rock opal. Here the traveller has arrived and can rest in the dreamlike play of opalescent colours of this gemstone, grounded and strengthened by its mother rock.

7 FLYING SEA

Ring
900/1000 gold, aquamarine 1.95ct

7 This work lifts the simple into its proper place. Since aquamarine gives, among other things, vision and foresight, so that one can always see new paths and possibilities and include them in their plans (Grieged), this bracelet is a symbol of travel. It is set almost free-floating. The gold grounds it, the drop shape of the ring refers to water (fat / fat aquamarine) and so fluidly combines these two elements.

8 BARRIER

Bracelet
935/1000 silver, natural rock
diamond, 999/1000 gold inside

8 This work is the result of a literary experience. The inspiring sentence is: "...and Samuel crossed the hedge" (Grieged). One sees through this rock diamond, which is set in a rock, that one can cross over obstacles, that one can even sometimes bypass it simply by changing the point of view: the stylized hedge depicted here looks insurmountable at first glance, but when one looks down, one sees that the obstacle is easier to get around here. And that then the stairs lie at their feet and light the way.
