Milan is ready to host the first Milan Jewelry Week. Running from 24th to 27th October, the event aims at providing an image of jewelry that everyone can easily fall in love with. It will be a four-day program with about 50 events totally dedicated to jewelry. Among them, the new edition of Artistar Jewels, a transversal project about contemporary jewelry, now at its seventh edition. Taking place in the beautiful location of Palazzo Bovara, this new edition of Artistar Jewels will present a selection of 500 artist jewels. Having in common the dedication and skill in the goldsmith and creative art, all the selected designers will be inserted in an experiential journey that touches different themes: avant-garde, innovation, precious and recycling. Artistar Jewels also organized a contest, which was born with the aim of giving greater prominence to the artists who have distinguished themselves among the already deserving participants; the three most voted artists will be the winners of the 2019 Fall Edition and will have the opportunity to participate for free in Artistar Jewels 2020 with special contents published in the 2020 edition of the book.
