Located to the south of the Athens Acropolis in a space that stands on the remains of a Late Antiquity villa urbana, El. Marneri Gallery has played a principal role in Greece's vibrant contemporary jewelry scene. The gallery has a 30 year record of uninterrupted hands-on engagement with developments in art jewelry practice and has consistently promoted the work of an eclectic crowd of Greek and international artists. Above all, E.Marneri Gallery hopes to serve as a platform for the exchange of ideas and creative practices among all those involved in the making and promoting of contemporary art and design; a hotbed of creative dialogue between artists, curators, critics, galleries, and collectors from around the world.
