The brand creates priceless pieces accessible to both sexes and for all ages, managing to combine passion and innovation with high quality jewels.

HASHI is not only a high-end jewelry brand but also a maison that aims to transform customer needs into memorable works of art and to produce masterpieces suitable for every man and woman. The luxury brand that participates in the 2021 edition of Milan Jewelry Week in June is aimed at customers capable of appreciating the finer things in life. HASHI creates priceless pieces accessible to both sexes and for all ages, managing to combine passion and innovation with high quality jewels.

HASHI was created in 2013 a Dubai and Hamda Al Mansoori and the brand has grown through the creations of the maison's talented minds. "The sky is the limit to our dreams. I want to show true beauty by drawing the right way to luxury," comments Hamda.

Says the maker of Hashi: "With HASHI, high quality jewelry offers a timeless design. Every day is special and the ordinary becomes priceless. "

Today HASHI is a maison more alive than ever. It's a production house that designs and produces refined and high-end jewels thanks to its own design team. It is also engaged in investments in other companies, including production, in which it takes care of its designers, provides precious stones, diamonds and other services.

HASHI also has a community charity unit and provides consultancy services to newly established businesses and aspiring designers in the jewelry field. Participant in the next edition of the Milan Jewelry Week, with its commitment to design a way between beauty and luxury, has opened its doors to a collaboration with MIM, a talented designer, vlogger and influencer from the United Arab Emirates.

There are three collections presented by the brand: Promise Me Power, Promise Me Infinity e Promise Me Love. The artwork in each HASHI X MIM collection celebrates a masterpiece through a stunning, modern and vibrant design that will encourage, inspire and empower every woman. The jewels designed and inspired by modern culture are made with precious and colored gems. HASHI brings together a contemporary combination of diamonds and precious stones that refer to a vision realized by new designs that reinforce the concept of a strong woman with a vocation for love, beauty and power.
